Background:

Regular work of the County Historical Commission recently is focused on the Truth and Reconciliation effort as well as protecting historic African American cemeteries. There is also work underway on several state historic markers. The advisory board is completing a brief history of the County Commission since the 1950s and also is researching the evolution of the advisory board. The Ancient Records of the Alachua County Clerk and the digitized Gainesville Sun archives available from Alachua County Library District are very important to the work of the group.
