Exhibit 1: Scope of Services

1. General Requirements:

- 1.1. The Contractor shall, on behalf of the County, manage the Alachua County Energy Efficiency and Weatherization Grant Program to provide weatherization and energy efficiency upgrades to qualified rental households whose annual income is at 50% AMI or below and who pay their own utility usage. The funding goal is to lower utility bills for low-income residents in rental housing while preserving affordability.
- 1.2. Data tracking to prove program success in the form of utility bill savings will be required. In addition, the County requires tracking of utility savings to be converted to carbon offsets.
- 1.3. The Contractor acknowledges that the program is the American Rescue Plan (ARPA) and that they are responsible for reporting required Treasury metrics.

2. Program Requirements

2.1. Alachua County Energy Efficiency and Affordable Housing Grant Program Requirements

2.1.1. Energy burden disproportionately impacts renters. Practical, low-cost, long-return investments in a home's utility efficiency are, by the nature of rental agreements challenging to justify for renters and property owners. The property owner does not typically pay for utilities or control usage, while the renter, if lower-income, has little to no incentive or resources to invest in home upgrades. This is especially so for renters in marginalized communities. These populations may only find sub-standard properties that are only relatively affordable. Rental units in these areas may have older building systems, problems with openings in the envelope, and more significant utility expenses than similar- sized properties in more affluent neighborhoods.

2.1.2. The Contractor shall administer the grant program for utility efficiency upgrades to renters' homes in marginalized, low-income communities. The goal of this program is to directly benefit these community members by lowering their monthly utility bills and thus increasing the number of energy and water-efficient homes while at the same time retaining their affordability.

2.2. Contractor Administrator Program Requirements

2.2.1. Contractor will assist the County in any ARPA-related program documentation and analysis.

2.2.2. Community partnerships are strongly encouraged. The Contractor is encouraged to create partnerships with academic institutions for utility tracking and reporting verification and neighborhood groups for participation and outreach.

Exhibit 2: Proposal

Rebuilding Together North Central Florida RFP 22-336-LC Full Proposal (part 1 of 1)

1. Organizational Capacity

A. Describe your agency's demonstrated capacity with similar programs and targeted populations.

Rebuilding Together North Central Florida (RTNCF) has provided critical home repair, rehabilitation, and energy-efficiency services to low-income homeowners formally in Alachua County, Florida in an official capacity for over 17 consecutive years.

Efforts to assist low-income homeowners in repairing unsafe conditions began in 1998 as a volunteer effort named Rebuild Gainesville, Inc. which incorporated in May, 2005 as a nonprofit organization to access greater numbers of volunteers and donors and to expand services to additional homeowners within Gainesville, FL. In 2008 the grassroots organization affiliated with the National Rebuilding Together network, changing its name to Rebuilding Together North Central Florida, widening the service area and the opportunity to provide services to a broader geographic location with additional support and resources from the national organization.

Additionally in 2008, RTNCF was a critical partner in launching the Community Weatherization Coalition (CWC) with the mission of empowering low-income neighbors to take control of their energy and water consumption (and therefore their utility expenses) through low and no-cost retrofits paired with education provided by trained volunteer energy coaches. RTNCF would take on the administrative and financial aspects of the CWC, lending its expertise, nonprofit and tax-exempt status, and financial oversight to the Coalition by adopting CWC activities as the energy-efficiency branch of the Rebuilding Together program.

Since its inception, RTNCF has repaired 12-25 homes per year through its critical repair programs and engages hundreds of individual volunteers in thousands of service hours annually. CWC has annually completed hundreds of energy tune-ups for low-income residents, saving them thousands of kilowatt hours of electricity and tens of thousands of gallons of water. Historical data analysis (through UF's Program for Resource Efficiency Communities) shows savings of an average of $255 per household per year on overall utility expenses.

In 2020, RTNCF launched an Emergency Repair Program with the goal of making quick, efficient, and necessary repairs rapidly and utilizing as few person-to-person contacts as possible in the height of the COVID-19 Pandemic. Due to the overwhelming success of that pilot, the organization has added Emergency Repairs to its year-round services.

Repair and energy programs alike have historically served low-income families, seniors and persons with disabilities. Repair and energy upgrade programs have been available specifically to homeowners, while energy tune-ups have been available to both homeowners and renters. Historically, all of our combined services are provided at no cost to the neighbors we serve.

B. Describe your agency's staff qualifications.

Rebuilding Together has collectively been serving the Alachua County community for decades, with deep community connections through our staff, board members, volunteers, and other stakeholders. For this proposal, RTNCF / CWC each intend to hire an additional staff person (one to manage the Tune-Up/prequalification piece of the program, and one to manage the follow-up energy-efficiency upgrades). The proposed titles for the new hires are: Construction Manager, and CWC Program Coordinator. Currently, the RTNCF / CWC team comprises the following members with the listed qualifications, all of whom will be involved in this proposal in some way.

Executive Director:

Rebuilding Together's current Executive Director oversees all programs. He has served several roles at the organization since 2011, transitioned to Executive Director from a role as Director of Program, after serving two AmeriCorps terms prior to joining the staff. Altogether, he has more than ten years field experience in home repair/rehabilitation, project management, and program oversight. As the team member with the most experience, he provides field trainings and assists with on-site repairs as needed, as well as maintaining and building new relationships with stakeholders including contractors and subcontractors needed to complete repairs. He approves and oversees finances, reports, and reimbursement requests and provides general oversight and management of the organization and its programs.

Office Administrator:

RTNCF's Office Administrator came to the organization with many years' experience in hotel bookkeeping and auditing, and has served our organization in this role since 2016. She currently tracks income and expenses and handles reporting for existing grants, including past and present Government contracts. The Office Administrator tracks all finances for expenditures and completes reports and reimbursement requests. She assists with client applications and verification, as well as associated data entry.

Repair Program Manager:

The Repair Program Manager is an AmeriCorps alum who completed her term of National Service at Rebuilding Together in 2020. She spent the past several years learning and overseeing RTNCF's repair programs under the guidance and supervision of our Executive Director, and played a pivotal role in the launch of the Emergency Repair Program in 2020. The Repair Program Manager oversees application processes, ensures subcontractor compliance and relations, serves as a liaison between clients, volunteers, and subcontractors, oversees volunteer projects and processes, and ensures safety and quality control on repair sites. She tracks and keeps program related data and assists with the program outcome and output side of grant reporting.

Community Engagement Specialist:

This CSE role is also held by a recent Rebuilding Together AmeriCorps alum who completed her term of National Service with Rebuilding Together in 2021. Her focus is now on community engagement—both from a client and a stakeholder perspective. She specializes in volunteer recruitment and management among other types of outreach. A portion of the CSE's time is spent as a liaison for our newly launching Rural Programs in Levy County and coordinating two associated grants that are making the expansion possible—a HUD Rural Capacity Building Grant, and an Older Adult Home Modifications Program focused on Levy County.

Two (2) AmeriCorps Program Coordinators:

These are a revolving role at our organization of national service members who spend 11 months with Rebuilding Together building our capacity as an organization and building their personal and professional skills. The AmeriCorps Project Coordinators assist the Executive Director and the Repair Program Manager with many aspects of their program and project related responsibilities with a focus on direct repairs, repair coordination, and client relationships. Should we need to solicit applications or do outreach for either clients, volunteers, or subcontractors, AmeriCorps Members will be part of those processes as well.

RTNCF's Energy-Efficiency Programs operate under the program name "Community Weatherization Coalition" (CWC).

CWC's two current employees, the CWC Program Director, and the CWC Program Assistant hold Bachelor's degrees and joined the team at RTNCF/CWC after serving in other nonprofit capacities in Gainesville and Kentucky. The CWC Program Director has over 15 years of non-profit experience, managing programs, budgets, events, and volunteers. CWC's Program Assistant has six years of experience in coalition settings managing programs, volunteers, trainings, and outreach.

C. Describe the population currently served by your agency.

RTNCF and CWC serve a diverse range of clients and do not discriminate or deny services on the basis of race, color, religion (creed), gender, gender expression, age, national origin (ancestry), disability, marital status, sexual orientation, or military status, in any of its activities or operations. RTNCF's programs all prioritize low-income individuals and households. Our program serves high numbers of racial minorities, seniors, and individuals with disabilities.

CWC

The CWC focuses on Alachua County residents residing both inside and outside the City of Gainesville, including renters not eligible for other programs. Both homeowners and renters are eligible for Energy Tune-Ups. Renters are an important group who historically make up approximately half of CWC clients and who do not have access to other local housing improvement resources. Reducing utility bills can help avoid evictions due to unpaid bills.

CWC's programs serve all income levels, but specifically recruit for and prioritize low-income households, placing emphasis on helping lower-income families, and decreasing the utility burden costs of those who most need it most while conserving our planet's natural resources.

CWC serves primarily African American low-income families in east Gainesville, including single mothers with young children, elders on fixed incomes aging in place, veterans, and both homeowners and renters. Program data for the CWC shows that, of households served in 2021, 75% of residents identified as Black/African American or Hispanic/Latin. Full demographics are collected for this program on an ongoing basis.

CWC anticipates serving an average of 50 or more homes per year via this proposal through energy tune-up services, either staff and volunteer-led, or utilizing the DIY model developed during the COVID-19 pandemic when the program is fully operational.

Rebuilding Together

Rebuilding Together's repair programs utilize the Average Median Income (AMI) as determined by the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) for Alachua County to determine eligibility. All of the 25 households served in 2021 fell into low-income categories, 44% qualifying as extremely low income, and 40% qualifying as very low.

Our programs' target demographic have historically shown lower rates of homeownership, health and safety, and economic stability. By providing repairs to low-income owner-occupied homes, RTNCF actively combats the problem of inequitable housing conditions for marginalized populations through proactively encouraging housing stability and improving housing quality. To ensure further equitable access, RTNCF and CWC have recently translated our application and outreach materials into Spanish, and are partnering with local organizations that serve predominantly Hispanic/Latino communities.

Of the residents within the 25 households we served in 2021, 22 were Black or African American (51%), 17 were White (39%), and 4 were Hispanic or Latino (9%). Of these 43 residents, 14 residents had a disability (32%) and 16 residents were over the age of 65 (37%), indicating that fixed incomes, mobility, and accessibility issues are major concerns addressed. These demographics were provided voluntarily, and do not serve as a basis for qualification for our services.

D. Describe your planned operational hours (days per week, hours per day, etc.) for the grant program.

RTNCF and CWC staff typically work full time (32-40 hour) work weeks, with staff variably available every day of the week to accommodate program needs. Most business related to this proposal would take place Monday-Friday during regular business hours, though volunteer activities and tune-ups can and will take place on evenings and weekends depending on volunteer availability and preference.

E. Describe your agency's experience coordinating and cooperating with marginalized and low-income neighborhoods and local governments.

RTNCF's and CWC's programs all prioritize low-income individuals and households. Our programs have historically served high numbers of racial minorities, seniors, and individuals with disabilities. These programs have regularly cooperated with neighborhood leaders, other nonprofits and social services agencies, and local government agencies to establish a greater awareness of our programs and make them accessible for the residents of historically disadvantaged neighborhoods.

Through partnerships with key organizations within the communities served, RTNCF and CWC have further developed relationships with community members and leaders. Examples of these partnerships include partnerships with the Cultural Arts Coalition and with Greater Duval Neighborhood Association since 2016, outreach at local churches, CWC workshops and outreach at SWAG Neighborhood Resource Center, local library partnerships to make DIY-kits available and accessible to neighborhood residents at convenient locations in Gainesville and (soon to be) in Waldo, and a recent training with Project YouthBuild. In addition to increasing familiarity with our organizations, we ensure access to our services for as many marginalized and low-income neighbors as possible by making home repairs, upgrades, and tune-ups available to residents at no cost.

Housing repair, rehabilitation, and energy efficiency work requires a high level of trust as neighbors are letting us into their homes and sharing personal circumstances. As such, RTNCF and CWC have built trust with the residents and communities we have served. Many program recipients serve as word of mouth referrals to their neighbors and other community members.

CWC has received both funding and support from the City of Gainesville and GRU, and from Alachua County, for over a decade. In 2016, CWC received a DEED grant to study program impacts and to decrease barriers to our programs' effectiveness through GRU from the American Public Power Association. This grant led to a number of community workshops, long-term partnerships, and ultimately changes to the program to help the program build a solid reputation in specific Gainesville neighborhoods. We Are Neutral also was a partner in this grant.

RTNCF and CWC are dedicated to ensuring our neighbors can remain safe and healthy in their homes, while empowering them to reduce their overall water and energy consumption, and therefore their utility costs. Repair, rehab, and energy-efficiency work aims to stabilize low-income and marginalized neighborhoods while revitalizing them for the community members who already live there. These crucial improvements also increase the climate resilience of low-income homes and communities.

RTNCF has collaborated extensively with local, state, and federal governments for decades, and has received letters of support and public declarations from a number of public officials for our work in housing repair, rehab, and energy-efficiency. RTNCF works directly with Alachua County Community Support Services, Alachua County Housing Programs, the Alachua County Office of Sustainability, the City of Gainesville Housing Department, and directly with the public utility Gainesville Regional Utilities. In partnership with the City and County over the past 17 years, RTNCF and CWC have provided repair services to hundreds of homes in the City and County, and have provided Energy Tune-Ups to hundreds of additional households each year.

Most recently, the CWC is participating as one of two community partner organizations in the EMPOWER project, a proposal led by Alachua County that includes the City of Gainesville and GRU, and the Alachua County NAACP Environmental and Climate Justice Committee. The project was selected by the U.S. Department of Energy as one of only 23 LEAP (Local Energy Action Program) Communities (<https://www.energy.gov/communities/LEAP/leap-communities>) to receive technical assistance over the next 12-18 months. The project will focus on specific underserved communities, engaging residents in the task of designing an equitable pathway to 100% renewable energy in Alachua County through expanded energy efficiency services, electrification and solar energy, and workforce development in energy efficiency.

F. Describe any partnership qualifications and experience that will enhance your ability to meet the programmatic goals of the program.

RTNCF and CWC have, since their inception, and continuing to the present, worked collaboratively within the community to strengthen our efficiency, effectiveness, resilience, and impact.

CWC / Community Partnerships

The CWC has partnered with SWAG resource center to table at events and recruit clients in-person, as well as participating as a guest speaker for multiple financial fitness workshop events in collaboration with the library partnerships. The United Church of Gainesville (UCG) has provided the space for our volunteer energy coach training events for more than a decade. The Alachua County Public Library has been an incredible partnering agency with the CWC recently by hosting DIY Tune-Up kits that can be checked out and returned to library branches to increase access and reduce the travel burden on interested DIY recipients. CWC has worked with clients referred through partner nonprofits such as Family Promise, Catholic Charities, and Gainesville Community Ministry, has a long-standing partnership with the Greater Duval Neighborhood Association and is continually reaching out to other neighborhood groups. CWC is always seeking to collaborate more with organizations who often see our community's most in-need neighbors, such as GRACE Marketplace, Meridian, and Alachua County Social Services. CWC staff, volunteers, and stakeholders are well connected in many other community efforts and organizations and function collaboratively.

The CWC also partners with local housing rehabilitation agencies and programs including Rebuilding Together's repair programs, the Central Florida Community Action Agency, Alachua County Habitat for Humanity and GRU's energy-efficiency programs. Through these partnerships, the CWC has been able to assist dozens of clients in receiving critical home repairs, and more extensive retrofits such as upgraded HVAC systems, new water heaters, building envelope enhancement, and other improvements.

The CWC's primary objective is to serve local residents and to sustain community development through a tested grass-roots program that can be replicated elsewhere, given the staffing and financial resources to: operate the program services and education; reach out to community partners and residents; and monitor real financial and environmental impact of services. CWC has fostered the creation of a similar program in Sarasota County, and under an MOU signed in February 2021, is implementing collaboration with UF IFAS Extension offices in Alachua and other Florida Counties. Additionally, we are reaching out to affiliates in other cities, counties and other geographic areas affiliated with the Rebuilding Together network.

Rebuilding Together

RTNCF values collaboration and high-impact solutions to housing problems. RTNCF offers our particular skills and expertise anywhere they can increase the health, safety, affordability, and energy-efficiency of housing in Alachua County. Likewise, RTNCF actively partners with a number of agencies in a referral relationship since the core services offered vary from agency to agency. RTNCF solicits information from applicants as to what services they've received and from what other agencies in order to avoid duplication of services.

RTNCF's work preserves critical affordable housing opportunities, while stabilizing and revitalizing distressed neighborhoods. By collaborating with other mission-driven nonprofits, local and federal government agencies, skilled trades associations, faith-based organizations and community advocacy groups, we become a stronger community revitalization partner and increase the impact of our work. By investing in communities, RTNCF transforms the lives of low-income homeowners by improving the safety and health of their homes and revitalizing their communities using comprehensive strategies and partnerships to meet our neighbors where they need us most.

RTNCF has relationships with many partner agencies, and works directly with the Alachua County Housing Programs, City of Gainesville Housing Programs, GRACE Marketplace, Family Promise of Gainesville, Gainesville Fire Rescue's Community Paramedicine Program, Central Florida Community Action Agency, GRU's LEEP Program, Neighborhood Housing and Development Corporation, Catholic Charities, the Community Weatherization Coalition, and Alachua Habitat for Humanity.

Some examples of RTNCF partnerships that will enhance this proposal include:

Family Promise

Nonprofit organization- RTNCF worked with Family Promise and their partners to rehabilitate a multi-family housing unit purchased by Family Promise to utilize as permanently affordable rental housing. Family Promise owns a number of properties and is part of a network that connects families graduating from their program with affordable housing in the area. Family Promise has expressed interest in partnering with us for this project to help identify landlords in strategic neighborhoods to participate in the program.

Neighborhood Housing and Development Corporation (NHDC)

Nonprofit organization- RTNCF and NHDC have similar goals for ensuring housing for all, and have collaborated on volunteer projects in the past. NHDC owns a number of properties and has expressed interest in partnering with us for this project. We anticipate they may serve as a resource for eligible properties. Additionally, the CWC runs its operations out of the NHDC building.

GRACE Marketplace

Nonprofit organization- RTNCF previously coordinated volunteers in constructing wooden platforms to assist in the closing of Dignity Village in a people-centric way. Nearly 100% of the former residents of Dignity Village have been permanently housed through GRACE Marketplace since. RTNCF also renovated an existing room at GRACE Marketplace, converting it into two exam rooms with a separate waiting room to accommodate the need for more on-site medical space during the pandemic. Because GRACE focuses on housing and rapid re-housing as a core service, GRACE is interested in helping RTNCF connect with landlords and communities where the services provided through this proposal may be leveraged to assist the people and communities who need it the most.

2. Planning

A. Describe preparatory activities for implementation, including developing protocols/guidelines and staff training.

The following activities will take place prior to the launch of service offerings to qualified households:

- Hiring and training of new staff positions prior to the pilot launch
- Selecting and screening for eligible properties within the target program area
- Establishing communication with landlords for eligible properties
- Develop guidelines for communicating with landlords and tenants
- Develop guidelines for acting as a liaison between landlord, tenant and subcontractors
- Designating staff as authorized persons to approve contractor estimates, including training on budget and criteria for upgrades after tune-ups have been performed
- Developing and training staff on program timeline/steps/process
- Tailor existing Rebuilding Together Initial Home Visit documentation to meet the needs of the program (using the provided program parameters, more closely in line with the CWC's upgrade program)

B. Provide a timeline with an anticipated initial operation date for the pilot project and full-scale project through December 31, 2026.

June 2022

-Pre-Planning, internal mapping and training

When the project is approved, RTNCF and CWC intend to meet with our nonprofit partners and create a streamlined process for funneling eligible properties through the program.

Simultaneously, RTNCF / CWC will begin training our staff and recruiting for open positions to support our existing programs in expanding in this capacity. During this phase we will also be coordinating with third-party analysts to determine the data that is needed for documenting pre-repair carbon consumption metrics.

July/August 2022

-RTNCF / CWC will reach out to partner agencies for referrals of eligible properties to be pre-screened for qualification

-Public announcement of the program and eligibility guidelines

-RTNCF / CWC will identify and reach out to landlords and property management companies with potentially eligible properties in the targeted areas

September 2022

-Pilot program begins (projected to serve 10-15 households)

-CWC completes tune-ups and makes recommendations for upgrades

-Perform Initial Home Visits to determine work scopes

Late September-October 2022

-CWC completes tune-ups and makes recommendations for upgrades

October-December 2022

-Begin initial round of upgrades

January 2023

-Send Phase 1 Pilot data to We are Neutral for pilot analysis and assess program for any changes to guidelines or protocols before rolling out for full-scale

March 2023

-Phase 2, full program application cycle begins

The remaining timeline follows a similar model as the pilot, beginning in March 2023 and accepting applications on a rolling basis until capacity is reached. Phase 2 data will be collected and shared with We Are Neutral as part of the closeout process for each individual home until capacity is reached, at which time a comprehensive report can be compiled.

C. Describe the training and technical assistance needs related to planning, implementing, and evaluating the program, as appropriate.

-Existing staff will be trained on the specifics of new programs and any changes needed in regards to program qualification methods (i.e. renters/landlords vs. homeowners, income qualification, affordable housing rental rates)

-Existing staff will develop the appropriate training and materials and will set aside time to get new staff up to speed.

-New staff will be hired and trained to coordinate and organize logistics on both the Tune-Up and Upgrades phases of the program.

-Strategies for working with landlords and changes to existing structure of our programs will be developed and implemented by existing (and possibly, in some cases, new) staff along with outreach to community partners with more experience in these areas.

-Technical assistance is needed with carbon offset and data collection. RTNCF intends to collect and manage this data in partnership with We Are Neutral who have collaborated with RTNCF and CWC considerably in the past and are extremely interested in pursuing this proposal in partnership.

3. Technical Proposal

A. Estimate the total yearly unduplicated number of clients that will be served when fully operational.

We propose to serve 10-15 homes during the pilot period, and up to 50 housing units per year when the program is fully operational. Due to the nature of the program, repair and upgrade processes will vary by the needs and interests of participants, with more extensive upgrades taking place over a longer timeline. All upgrades will be preceded by an initial Energy Tune-Up with a complete inspection and recommendations for potential upgrades.

B. Describe your proposed methodology for calculating the carbon offset by the energy savings. Please differentiate between behavior-education-related reductions and building improvement reductions.

RTNCF and CWC will partner with the nonprofit organization We Are Neutral, Inc. (WAN) for this purpose. We Are Neutral will find the best methodologies available amongst the top carbon offset registries. These existing methodologies will be combined and adapted to ensure they are functional for this project. We Are Neutral will submit the edited methodology to the carbon offset registry for approval. After approval, the methodology will be followed throughout the duration of this project. Methodologies to combine/adapt include (but are not limited to) VCS Methodology VM0018, VCS Methodology VM0008, CDM Methodology AMS-II.E., CDM Methodology AMS-II.J., and/or CDM Methodology AMS-II.C.

The approved methodology might or might not include all energy saving components of this project. The approved methodology most likely will not include behavior-education related reductions, since these are inextricably combined with first-level energy efficiency interventions. We Are Neutral will quantify these non-behavioral reductions and verify them so the city/county will be able to use these reductions against their comprehensive carbon footprint as a form of "insetting".

4. Data and Reporting

A. Describe your agency's capacity to collect and monitor data elements to be included in monthly and annual reports.

RTNCF and CWC currently collect and monitor data for all programs in some capacity. Annual Report data for 2021 is available at:

<https://drive.google.com/file/d/1BQGg504A82v01zdmJcCbCFTdXQWD-Mq/view?usp=sharing>

Long term outcomes for our programs are available at:

<https://rebuildingtogetherncf.org/overall-impact>

<https://communityweatherization.org/wp-content/uploads/2021/10/CWC-DEED-Grant-Final-Report-July-2018.pdf>

Executive Summary:

Key highlights show that Rebuilding Together's repairs have a positive impact on safety, physical health, mental health, independence, community involvement, and economic security, and CWC's home tune-ups provide measurable decreases in usage of energy and water, and in utility bills.

Historically, RTNCF has partnered with UF's Program for Resource Efficient Communities and with Gainesville Regional Utilities to provide in-depth analysis of energy program savings. Detailed reports of PREC data analysis, as well as results from the American Public Power Association DEED grant are available upon request. CWC also collects qualitative impact information through client surveys conducted 4-6 weeks after each home visit. These surveys show an extremely high level of client satisfaction with services, as well as high levels of reported learning about a wide range of home energy and water issues and how residents can address them. Over time, energy and water savings continue to decline in these homes as residents make additional changes.

RTNCF and CWC are interested and willing to work with the County to track and measure the impacts of this program.

We Are Neutral has a history of collecting and quantifying carbon offsets as described in the methodology section of this proposal. RTNCF and CWC will work closely with We Are Neutral to ensure that all data necessary for WAN's calculations are collected and provided for analysis and monitoring.

5. Budget

A. Please explain your agency's experience and capacity to manage the grant and private funds.

Current staff have managed Rebuilding Together's overall budgets for the past 10 years with moderate and sustained growth over time. Budgets have ranged from about $250,000 in lean years to more than $500,000 in 2021. RTNCF's 2021 third party financial audit is available here:

https://drive.google.com/file/d/1wxdbmilGxf4FsA_5J79PPf1L36lbVOHF/view?usp=sharing

RTNCF has historically managed both public and private funds, often leveraging public funds with private funds in order to increase impacts. RTNCF funds its programs primarily through Government Grants, Corporate Sponsorships, Foundation support, and individual gifts.
