The 100 Black Men of America has developed a proven blueprint for youth development, embodied in our motto: "What they see is what they will be." Our goal is to provide positive role models and expose mentees to enriching experiences that broaden their worldviews.

To address gun violence in Alachua County, we propose a pilot mentorship program with an innovative approach: mentoring relationships that culminate in a violence prevention workshop featuring personal stories of conflict resolution—both successes and failures.

Target Demographic:

Young men aged 16–24 who:

Reside in Alachua County,

Have had contact with the criminal or juvenile justice systems,

Show low academic achievement,

Associate with aggressive or delinquent peers, and

Feel little connection to their community's well-being.

These ...

Motivation through the Sharing of Personal Stories

Motivation through sharing personal stories of success is a core principle of the mentoring ideology of the 100 Black Men of America. Through these interactions, mentors convey powerful lessons about the values, skills, and behaviors we hope mentees will aspire to emulate. A key component of our strategy to reduce gun violence is fostering a sense of personal responsibility in our mentees for the well-being of the communities in which they live.

The proposed mentorship program and workshop will address the root causes of gun violence—disconnection, lack of opportunity, and exposure to negative influences—by offering young men positive support systems, essential skills, and leadership opportunities. Through these efforts, we aim to create ...
